

THE WILMINGTON POST.

WILMINGTON, N. C.
SUNDAY MORNING, NOV. 3, 1878.

TO THE REPUBLICANS OF THE THIRD CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

For the reasons given below, which seem satisfactory to myself, and which I trust will be deemed satisfactory by my friends, I hereby withdraw my name as a candidate for Congress for this Congressional District, and recommend that the Republicans of this District cast their votes for the Hon. DANIEL L. RUSSELL.

The candidates at the present time are myself, Republican, Mr. Waddell, Democratic, and Mr. Russell, who has been nominated by the Greenbackers. Judge Russell has long been recognized as a Republican, has several times received the votes of the Republicans of this region, and still, it is believed, has their confidence upon all measures not connected with financial questions. It both he and myself continue as candidates, thus dividing the opposition to the Democratic candidate, it is evident that neither of us will be elected. Believing as I do that Judge Russell may be elected, I therefore voluntarily withdraw my name, and ask my friends to give him their cordial, energetic and undivided support.

It is well known that I have zealously opposed the candidacy of Judge Russell and deprecated his attitude toward the Republican party, but we should choose between evils.

In taking this course in what I consider to be the interest of our friends in this District, I cannot forget to extend my grateful and sincere thanks to those who in 1876 gave me a vote for Congress which led the state ticket by more than seven hundred, and also the unanimous support which has been accorded to me during this canvass, and I pledge myself to the support of Republican principles, and particularly to the interests of my friends in this District in the future.

I urge them to maintain vigilantly the organization of the Republican party, which never stood stronger in this District or in this state than now, and to the vindication and preservation of those principles on which depend the honor and safety of the nation and the welfare of her citizens. In thus casting our votes for Judge Russell, the Greenback candidate, we do it as Republicans, exercising our judgment in a choice between two candidates, one of whom must be elected.

I have requested the Republican Congressional Committee to coincide in my views.

WILLIAM P. CANADAY.

The Republican Congressional Committee having met in Fayetteville on the 13th of Sept., declined to make a partisan nomination for Congress, but as a special compliment to our gallant leader in the canvass of 1876, Hon. W. P. Canaday, requested all Republicans to go to the polls and vote for him at the ensuing election; and having received a letter from him declining longer to be a candidate on account of his official duties, and the fact that he cannot canvass the District as it now appears he ought to do, on account of the circumstance that there are two other candidates in the field, who are both actively canvassing:

Therefore, owing to the fact that the election is so near at hand, we advise all Republicans to cast their votes for Hon. Daniel L. Russell, the Greenback candidate, believing that he will so forward our interest and that of the public at large more than the old arch enemy, the Democracy. This step is taken after mature deliberation, and it is respectfully requested that our friends will co-operate in the movement.

In taking this course it is the purpose of those advising to it to preserve the Republican organization intact, and to cast our vote as Republicans, for an outside candidate.

JOSEPH C. ABBOTT,
Chairman Rep. Ex. Com.
Under the circumstances I concur in the above action.

O. H. BLOCKER,
Chairman Cong. Rep. Com. Third Cong. District.

MOON OUTRAGES IN SOUTH CAROLINA.

A Tribune telegram from Washington of the 29th ult., gives another item of news which illustrates the lofty principles of honor and chivalry which prevail among the red-shirted, shot-gunners of the mean and degraded state of South Carolina. The following is the telegram:

The details of an attack upon a Republican meeting at Georgetown, S. C., have just reached Washington. It seems that the Republicans had called a meeting to be held at that place, and were quietly conducting it. At the same time, in another part of the town, a large Democratic meeting was organized, attended by two cavalry companies and one of infantry, dressed in uniform and armed with rifles, pistols and sabres. These companies almost immediately set themselves to work to break up the Republican meeting. Some of them went over to the stand and made demonstrations against one of the speakers, which immediately produced general confusion. The armed men then made a combined attack on the meeting, drove off the Republicans, tore down the speakers stand, cut down the flag staff and pulled off the national colors, tore the flag in pieces and trampled it under foot.

We have seen a gentleman of entire responsibility who was in Georgetown on the day when these outrages occurred, and who more than corroborates the above statement. We believe that all the villains, or a part, who perpetrated the outrage came from Charleston, and returned there on a steamer after their beastly revelries in democratic triumph. It is said that Gen. Gary is the leader and instigator of these red-shirted, shot-gunners, and is using them as the best means of securing his election to the United States Senate. To what disgrace and degraded barbarism has the land of the Pinkneys and the Rutledges fallen.

WYOMING TERROR.

As soon as it was announced that the opposition vote would be concentrated as far as possible upon Judge Russell, there began to be a great hurrying to and fro among the Democrats. Mysterious knots of the faithful were gathering at the street corners and in bye places. Telegrams began to fly on the swift-winged lightning, and the mail was weighed down with dolorous missives. Our three powerful diurnal "organs" began to spit fire and pour out hollow and vague warnings, as if something terrible was about to occur. Runners were sent out towards Hatteras and Duplin and Moore. That great source of light and heat, the Sun, began to be excessively grave as is its wont, and that other portion of the solar system, the Star, began to twinkle out ominous warnings to sleeping Democrats, and our nightly visitor, the Review, which, to complete the congregation of heavenly bodies in Wilmington, ought to change its name to Moon, uttered a fearful shriek, announcing that there were eight hundred Greenbackers in Onslow.

While we do not see any imperative necessity for this startling outpouring of terror, we suppose the Bourbons do. It is true that we had heard that a large number of Democrats were quite indifferent as to Col. Waddell's election, and that a good many had joined the Greenbackers, but it never had occurred to us that things were as bad as the Star makes them. Here it is:—"There is a painful lethargy in portions of the District."—"The trouble lies in the want of proper enthusiasm."—"If there be Democrats who are meditating the do-nothing policy (?) we beg, we urge them to abandon such a criminal course."—"It will be too late (when Russell is elected) to mourn, or cover your heads with ashes" (like Job).—"This District would feel comfortable (ironical) if it should wake up some fine morning and find Daniel Russell the member of Congress elect." The Star has evidently become so agitated as to forget Judge Russell's full name.

Now, inasmuch as the Sun has published one of the decisions of Judge Russell, which was to the effect that if a colored man had bought and paid for a particular seat in a theatre he had a right to sit in it we intend to issue in circular form Col. Waddell's speech delivered at a "negro" meeting held at the Elks Cross street African Baptist church on the night of the 17th day of June, 1867, which was reported in the Wilmington Journal on the morning of the 18th, and more fully on the morning of the 19th of June, wherein he said, that as there was no other party he should act with the Republicans, and wherein he substantially accepted the Reconstruction Acts of Congress. On that interesting occasion speeches were made by the Rev. S. S. Ashley, Geo. Z. French, Esq., and Gen. Abbott, the latter of whom welcomed Col. Waddell as the vanguard of the young North Carolinians who were coming forward to take our good old state back from military to civil rule. We have no doubt but that this speech of Col. Waddell will be as edifying to the Democrat of the District as will be Judge Russell's decision. This was quite a long time before "Daniel Russell" had experienced the purifying effects of Republican regenerating grace, so Waddell was ahead of him on the same line.

We do not believe that the Democrats of this District will be any more obfuscated on Russell's negro record than they are already on Waddell's. It is about an even thing, and more can be said on the same subject if any body has a mind to.

WHAT IS THE DIFFERENCE?

The Sun has published the decision of Judge Russell on the theatre case, with comments attempting to show that on account of that decision the Greenbackers who have been Democrats ought not to vote for him. On the other hand we publish the speech of Col. Waddell, delivered at a Republican meeting held in this city in 1867, composed mostly of colored voters, which shows that Col. Waddell has, during all this time, been at least as objectionable to the Democrats on the negro question as Judge Russell. If the reasoning is correct that Russell is not acceptable to Greenback Democrats because he made the said legal decision, it is certainly good reasoning that Waddell should be objected to for a stronger reason—for holder language in favor of the privileges of the colored race. If the argument of the Sun is of any weight as against Russell, it is also stronger as against Waddell. The two men both committed the same offence, if it were an offence, against Democracy, and both are liable to the same objections on their part—except that Waddell is the more odious.

If there is, to quote the Sun, "the horrid features of that leering Spirit of Evil" in Russell's decision, there is Satan himself and all his angels in Waddell's '67 speech, because Waddell endorsed the whole Reconstruction Acts of Congress, which comprehended within their scope every subsequent measure which has been deemed objectionable to the Democrats. How a pure and simple, dyed-in-the-wool Democrat can vote for Waddell if he cannot vote for Russell, is more than any human mind of the ordinary calibre can comprehend. Both have committed the same sort of offence against the sublimity of Democracy, only Waddell has a long way distanced Russell in enormity. Therefore we call on the Democrats to stop and consider. While their leaders are literally on their knees begging, coaxing and imploring Democratic Greenbackers not to vote for Russell, with what stomach can they turn about and vote for Waddell?

SECRETARY EVARTS SPEECH.

On the night of the 24th ult., the Secretary of State delivered at the Cooper Institution a very remarkable and great speech to a very brilliant audience. The speech is characterized strongly by Mr. Everts' peculiarities of style, subtleties of reasoning and graces of rhetoric, and covers the whole area of questions which now agitate the public mind. It would be impossible for all Republicans to agree with all of Mr. Everts' conclusions, not to say sophistries, but there is so much in this masterly oration that is commendable, and its recommendations that those Republicans who belong to the Saratoga ticket, are so bold and open, that those who do not accept all his opinions will not feel like indulging in much criticism. He starts out with stating that there are three great questions which lie at the basis of our politics. We quote his language:

The three great questions that were in the minds and hearts of the people, that found expression in the platform of the different parties, that formed the staple of discussions through the press and at the hustings during that election, were the pacification of the country in its final moral submission to obedience to the Constitution; the relation of the public service and the emancipation of the slave from the entangling and strangling connections of personal and private interests, supplanting and anticipating the public wants; and the restoration of the country to its former position, which is the duty of the true position which its numbers, its wealth, its industry, its enterprise were entitled to.

He then proceeds to explain the President's southern policy, saying:

This has sometimes been spoken of as if it was the policy of the Administration. It was nothing but a treatment by the Administration under a constitutional duty of a particular situation which was presented for their action. The policy of the Administration, as the policy of the Republican party, and, as I hope, the policy of all honest citizens of either party, is that there shall be no compromise with the principle that the whole legal authority of this country in the hands of the Executive of the Nation shall be directed everywhere to the enforcement of the laws and the security of the privileges of the weakest of our citizens.

After further observations on the mode of treating the difficulties in the south he deals with the "Civil Service Reform" and the rest of his speech is taken up with the financial questions. There is so much of this, and is so difficult to paraphrase anything that Mr. Everts says that we must content ourselves with a few specimen extracts. We quote as follows:

Now, there is great danger, as it seems to me, that because we have been in an irregular condition of our finances made necessary during the war, and have gradually advanced upon the evils, and one by one have overcome them—there is danger, it seems to me, that we should be too hastily misled into dissatisfaction with a condition of things which really, when we remember what in former times of peace we were accustomed to, must be considered a pretty satisfactory condition of the circulating medium of this country. I never knew a time before the war when every man in the country was entirely indifferent to the actual security of the bills that he carried in his pocket, as he is now. [Applause.] I never knew a time when business had such occasion to feel unconcern in regard to the paper money of the country, provided only it was measured by that measure of strength and honesty and convertibility into gold and silver [applause], that they would feel and that they do feel now. Nor do I believe that in the Republican party there is any disposition either to deride or to decry that paper money which is associated in our minds with the struggles and the throes of a great Nation contributing the strength of its youth to the battle-field, and the resources of its wealth to the treasury of the country. [Applause.]

What was the legal-tender as provided by this Government under the stress of war? Some people talk about it as if some other financial scheme might have been resorted to as if, having a power of taxation able to lay taxes of 100 per cent if necessary, the Government might have maintained the adherence to the specie standard, and filled the Treasury by taxation, by taxation to bankrupt a people. What could the Government do with all the property of the country turned into the hands of tax-gatherers, and all the people of the country turned out of their property? [Applause.] Did anybody ever hear of a financial system of that kind, that a Government becoming the owner of all the property, and the people homeless and penniless, was in a condition to carry on war with the acceptance of the community? No, just as we are now, when it became necessary, all the youth of the country were summoned to arms, so by the proclamation of a legal-tender, all the wealth of the country was marshalled to the aid of the Government, and the people were called upon to make payments after the war was over. [Great applause.] When the battles were finished, the soldiers went home to till the soil and work at the bench and fill the professions and increase the wealth of the country. When the war was over, the good faith of this people was pledged that as speedily as possible the promises, on the faith of which this agency of finance, a legal-tender, worked out the safety of the country, should be made good, and that they should be redeemed by a full and faithful performance. [Applause.]

Now when the legal-tender was working out this salvation of the country, did we hear its praises sung by the Democratic party? [No.] Was it helped out by their confidence and supported by their voices when both would have been useful to this country and to the soldiers in the field? No; we were then told how much we owed to the legal-tender, and that it was a whole lot better than the gold for the soldiers and powder and ball for the cannon. We were told that the country could expect to maintain liberties at so great a cost. Oh! gentlemen, I have not measured how much power and ball, or how many rifles and cannons, or how many millions of this paper money bought, less than its face in gold would have bought, but I think, for many of the men that now praise the legal-tender, the trouble was not that it bought too little, but that it bought too much. But if you take it as a whole, it was a whole lot better than the gold for the soldiers and powder and ball for the cannon. We were told that the country could expect to maintain liberties at so great a cost. Oh! gentlemen, I have not measured how much power and ball, or how many rifles and cannons, or how many millions of this paper money bought, less than its face in gold would have bought, but I think, for many of the men that now praise the legal-tender, the trouble was not that it bought too little, but that it bought too much. WILMINGTON, N. C.

FRIDAY MORNING, NOV. 3, 1878.

The Wilmington Post is the organ of the laboring men, and will always stand up for their rights.

The Wilmington Post is in favor of State Banks like those which existed in North Carolina before the rebellion.

The Wilmington Post is in favor of the wealth of the country supporting the government by paying the taxes.

The Wilmington Post is the organ of the true Greenback party, and will always stand up for the honor of the greenbacks and all other obligations of the United States Government.

The Wilmington Post is in favor of repealing the tax on State Banks, so that we can have private corporated banks in every city and town in the state. Then we will have prosperity in the land.

The platform of the Wilmington Post, as published above, is the proper one for every working man in the district. We have received a great many letters endorsing it, from the laboring men.

The Republican papers in North Carolina, and the places they are published at, are as follows:—
Register, Raleigh; Carolina, Elizabeth City; Spirit of the South, Rockingham; American, Statesville; New State, Greensboro; Pioneer, Asheville; Republican, Winston; Post, Wilmington.

DR. HARTER'S LIVER PILLS produce activity in the biliary organs, without any violent purgative effect. They are at once the mildest and most effective cathartic.

N. H. Cain, of Fayette C. H., Ala., says: "I gave Dr. Harter's Fever & Ague Specific to my little daughter, who was a mere skeleton from the effects of ague, she is now well and a new child. My wife suffered eight months from Chills and Fever; nothing did her any good until she commenced using Dr. Harter's Fever and Ague Specific, which cured her at once."

An Undeniable Truth.

You deserve to suffer, and if you lead a miserable, unsatisfactory life in this beautiful world, it is entirely your own fault and there is only one excuse for you—your unreasonable prejudice and skepticism, which has killed thousands. Personal knowledge and common sense reasoning will soon show you that Green's August Flower will cure you of Liver Complaint, or Dyspepsia, with all its miserable effects, such as sick headache, palpitation of the heart, sour stomach, habitual constiveness, dizziness of the head, nervous prostration, low spirits, &c. Its sales now reach every town on the Western Continent and not a druggist but will tell you of its wonderful cures. You can buy a sample bottle for ten cents. Three doses will relieve you.

It is a principle in hygienics that a torpid liver is a cause of fatal derangements of the physical organism. The blood, the bone, the muscles, the nerves all sympathize with this more prominent organ. Failure to obey its functions in the one is rebellion in every remote tissue. As a consequence, disease follows the slightest apathy or refusal of the liver to perform its part. Abnormal condition here for any length of time is death. To induce a normal state, no medicine is more positively adapted than Dr. Sanford's Liver Invigorator. This is not advertisement, but fact. We have used the Doctor's valuable medicine in our family for twenty years. We know him to be a physician of over thirty years' continuous practice, and that he has used the medicine in that practice. If the thousands of poor, miserable, sorrowful, dyspeptic victims we meet every day would use Dr. Sanford's Liver Invigorator, they would recover health. What more can be said?—The Working Church, New York.

DR. HARTER'S LIVER PILLS produce activity in the biliary organs, without any violent purgative effect. They are at once the mildest and most effective cathartic.

N. H. Cain, of Fayette C. H., Ala., says: "I gave Dr. Harter's Fever & Ague Specific to my little daughter, who was a mere skeleton from the effects of ague, she is now well and a new child. My wife suffered eight months from Chills and Fever; nothing did her any good until she commenced using Dr. Harter's Fever and Ague Specific, which cured her at once."

An Undeniable Truth.

You deserve to suffer, and if you lead a miserable, unsatisfactory life in this beautiful world, it is entirely your own fault and there is only one excuse for you—your unreasonable prejudice and skepticism, which has killed thousands. Personal knowledge and common sense reasoning will soon show you that Green's August Flower will cure you of Liver Complaint, or Dyspepsia, with all its miserable effects, such as sick headache, palpitation of the heart, sour stomach, habitual constiveness, dizziness of the head, nervous prostration, low spirits, &c. Its sales now reach every town on the Western Continent and not a druggist but will tell you of its wonderful cures. You can buy a sample bottle for ten cents. Three doses will relieve you.

It is a principle in hygienics that a torpid liver is a cause of fatal derangements of the physical organism. The blood, the bone, the muscles, the nerves all sympathize with this more prominent organ. Failure to obey its functions in the one is rebellion in every remote tissue. As a consequence, disease follows the slightest apathy or refusal of the liver to perform its part. Abnormal condition here for any length of time is death. To induce a normal state, no medicine is more positively adapted than Dr. Sanford's Liver Invigorator. This is not advertisement, but fact. We have used the Doctor's valuable medicine in our family for twenty years. We know him to be a physician of over thirty years' continuous practice, and that he has used the medicine in that practice. If the thousands of poor, miserable, sorrowful, dyspeptic victims we meet every day would use Dr. Sanford's Liver Invigorator, they would recover health. What more can be said?—The Working Church, New York.

THE WILMINGTON POST.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

SUNDAY MORNING, NOV. 3, 1878.

Republicans come out like men on the 6th day of November, 1878, and vote for Daniel L. Russell. We advise this as a choice between evils.

The Regular Republican candidate for Congress, William P. Canaday, has withdrawn, and he requests all true Republicans to vote for Hon. Daniel L. Russell on the 6th day of November, 1878.

All Republicans should stand by their party, but they can vote when their own party has no candidate in the field for the best man. Therefore we advise them to vote for Daniel L. Russell for Congress on Tuesday next.

Democrats are in the boot-lick business now. Three weeks ago they traveled on their muscle. As soon as they succeed, if they do, then they will set certain gentlemen in the back ground again.

The Democrats brought out at their meeting Friday night those gentlemen whom they have been trying to ignore during the whole canvass. Such for example as Messrs. Frank Darby, Macks and Hon. S. H. Fishblade, our present Mayor. We suppose they found at the last moment that they had to give such gentlemen consideration.

If there were two Democrats running the Republicans could choose the least obnoxious one. Therefore as the Democrats have a candidate and the Greenback party has a candidate, and as the Republican candidate has withdrawn, we advise all Republicans to vote for Daniel L. Russell, the Greenback candidate, on Tuesday next.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

The Proclamation of President Hayes Appointing the Day.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The President has issued the following proclamation, setting apart Thursday, Nov. 28, as a day of thanksgiving:

By the President of the United States, a Proclamation:

The recurrence of that season at which it is the habit of our people to make devout and public confessions of their constant dependence upon the Divine favor for all the good gifts of life and happiness, and of public peace and prosperity, exhibits in the record of the year, abundant reasons for our gratitude and thanksgiving.

Abundant harvests, productive mines, ample crops of staples of trade and manufactures have enriched the country. The resources thus furnished to our reviving industry and expanding commerce are hastening the day when discords and distresses, through the length and breadth of the land, will under the continued favor of Providence, have given away to confidence and energy and assured prosperity. Peace with all nations has remained unbroken, domestic tranquility has prevailed, and the institutions of liberty and justice which the wisdom and virtue of our fathers established remain the glory and defense of their children. The general prevalence of the blessings of health through our wide land has made more conspicuous the sufferings and sorrows which the dark shadow of pestilence has cast upon a portion of our people. This heavy affliction even the Divine Ruler has tempered to the suffering communities in the universal aid and succor which have flowed to their relief, and the whole Nation may rejoice in the unity of spirit in our people by which they cheerfully share one another's burdens.

Now, therefore, I, Rutherford B. Hayes, President of the United States, do appoint Thursday, the 28th day of November next, as a day of National thanksgiving and prayer, and I earnestly recommend that, withdrawing themselves from secular care and labor, the people of the United States do meet together on that day in their respective places of worship, to give thanks and praise to Almighty God for his mercies, and to devoutly beseech their continuance.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done at the City of Washington this 30th day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-eight, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and third.

By the President—WILLIAM M. EVARTS, Secretary of State.
